Religious Studies A Level Key Stage 5 Learning Journey

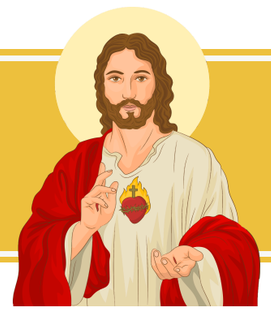

Development in Christian Thought

- Pluralism
- Secularisation

Development in Christian Thought

- Jesus
- Knowledge of God
- Liberation

Development in Christian Thought

- Death and Afterlife
- Gender and Society
- Gender and Theology

Development in Christian Thought

- Augustine
- Bonhoeffer
- Christian Moral Principles

Philosophy of Religion

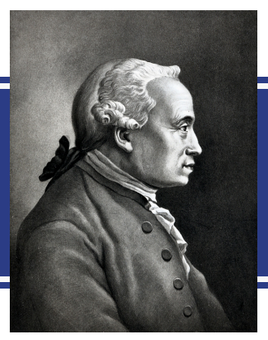

- Religious Language
- Nature of God

Year 13

Ethics

- Kantian Ethics
- Euthanasia
- Business Ethics

Ethics

- Meta Ethics
- Conscience
- Sexual Ethics

Ethics

- Natural Law
- Situation Ethics
- Utilitarianism

Year 12

Philosophy of Religion

- Ancient Greece
- Soul, Mind and Body
- Teleological Argument
- Cosmological Argument

Philosophy of Religion

- Problem of Evil
- Ontological Argument
- Religious Experience

"An RS A-level will provide you with lots of transferable skills including communication and literacy skills. Through essay writing and debate, you will learn how to communicate your thoughts clearly, and create structured arguments"

Year 12 Overview

In your A-Level course for Religious Studies you will be looking at 3 strands.
Strand 1- Philosophy of Religion
Strand 2- Development in Christian Thought
Strand 3- Ethics
All strands will expand upon Christian knowledge and content learn and will start to introduce a range of scholars who both help support the understanding of Christianity and scholars who argue against Christianity. Through this course you will take notes from relevant lessons and engage in wider reading to help embed knowledge and theories learnt. Each unit will be assessed by an essay based on an exam style question. These essays will either be written in class and planned at home or vice versa.

Year 12 Overview

In your A-Level course for Religious Studies you will be looking at 3 strands.
Strand 1- Philosophy of Religion
Strand 2- Development in Christian Thought
Strand 3- Ethics
All strands will expand upon Christian knowledge and content learn and will start to introduce a range of scholars who both help support the understanding of Christianity and scholars who argue against Christianity. Through this course you will take notes from relevant lessons and engage in wider reading to help embed knowledge and theories learnt. Each unit will be assessed by an essay based on an exam style question. These essays will either be written in class and planned at home or vice versa.